

Lympstone Parish Council Email Usage Policy

The following policy was adopted and agreed by Lympstone Parish Council on 6th February 2023.

The following policy was reviewed and agreed by Lympstone Parish Council on 8th April 2024.

Policy for Email Usage

Guidelines

The objective of these guidelines is to provide guidance to Councillors and the Parish Clerk ('the users') on the use of email so as to obtain the greatest benefit while keeping information safe.

The guidelines establish a framework for self-regulation by users of email as a communication and recording tool and are intended to minimise the risks associated with the handling of information. Such risks include loss of information, the safety and privacy of users, damage to the Council's reputation, loss of public trust and penalties for failing to meet legal obligations. It should be noted that emails and attachments may need to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act.

Email is one of the safest and fastest ways of sharing and disseminating information. It is assumed that all users take appropriate measures to keep their personal emails and data secure and that they will apply similar safeguards to Council business.

Lympstone Parish Council does not provide or insist Councillors use an exclusive email address for Council business, however it is generally considered best practice to do so and Councillors are encouraged to have a designated email address for Parish Council business. Councillors are provided with a PC tablet and PC email address to use for PC business.

Parish Councillors must consent in writing to agree to receive all council correspondence via email (using the form attached). This must be signed annually at the first parish council meeting of the municipal year. A Parish Councillor must also put in writing if they do not wish to receive Parish Council correspondence via email.

General guidelines

- (a) E-mails should not be used as a deliberate means of avoiding personal contact where one face to face discussion can avoid an exchange of numerous e-mails.
- (b) Limit the number of copies to those that are necessary.
- (c) Do not unnecessarily broadcast information widely, constant bombardment of individuals by irrelevant or unsolicited e-mail is time wasting.

(d) E-mails should be checked regularly or where this is not possible arrangements should be made for redirection

(e) If an email requires a response reply promptly. Where a prompt, detailed, response is not possible, send a short e-mail acknowledging receipt and giving an estimate of when you will provide a detailed response.

(f) If the sender of an email indicates that a response to them is not required this should be respected – this does not preclude recipients from responding to each other.

(g) Do not unnecessarily print out and store hard copies of e-mails. LPC policy email usage.

(h) Do not either write in capitals as this can be perceived as shouting or adopt a more aggressive tone in e-mails than you would in a face to face discussion. Abide by the Councils corporate standards for written communication.

(i) E-mail and the Internet provide an immense and unprecedented way to communicate council messages. It is important to maintain clarity, consistency and integrity of the Council's corporate image and policy.

(j) Do not attach long files or include graphics and logos if this is not necessary.

(k) Members should regularly delete or archive files no longer required or needed for immediate access.

(l) Summary checklist

- Is e-mail the best way to communicate this message?
- Think before you write.
- Use the spell check facility
- Think before you print.
- Be aware of the General Data Protection Regulations and do not copy people in without due care of the regulations. Only copy in people who you would be prepared to talk to about the subject.
- Re-read before you send.
- Delete or electronically file/archive e-mail as soon as it is dealt with.

Guidelines for Officers of the Council

1. For officers of the Council - Clerk, Chair, and Vice-Chair - to provide continuity separate email addresses have been provided exclusively for Council Business. All Parish Councillors will receive their own tablet and be provided with a PC email which will be expected to be used.

2. Additionally (where appropriate), each machine used for Council business must have anti-malware software installed and it must be ensured that virus definition files are up to date and regular full scans are run. Assurance that machines are protected should be provided to the Parish Clerk.

3. Emails sent to a private email address of an officer should first be forwarded to their Council address and the response sent from there with a note asking that the Council address is noted by the sender for future communications.

4. Emails sent from accounts held by Council Officers must be "signed" with a disclaimer, classification and note expressing that the email is from an Officer of the Parish Council. The Clerk's disclaimer should state 'sent on behalf of the Council or Councillors' as appropriate.

The disclaimer wording used is:-
